

David Lewis Speaking in Greenbelt Tonight

Eddie Greets Royalty

Little Eddie Hall of 28-B Ridge Road was in oright and early, prepared to wave with both hands at their Britannic Majesties, the Union Jack in one, and Stars and Stripes in the other. Eddie, who is of British descent on both his mother's and father's side is three years old.

Fish Story

Representatives from the Bureau of Fisheries inspected the Greenbelt Lake last week and it was in the light of their recommendations that the Town Council considered the question of an ordinance on the lake at its meeting last Monday night.

The history of the fish in the Greenbelt Lake is a more interesting one than that of any fish in any lake around these parts. On November 11, 1936, President Roosevelt put in the first batch of them. At the time the lake was stocked the fish census was as follows:

Thirty adult large-mouth bass, sixty six-inch large-mouth bass, seventy three-inch sunfish, two hundred three-inch catfish, two hundred fifty three-inch crappies, six hundred three-inch yellow perch, and twenty thousand little fish for the above to feed on.

It was found necessary to cut down on the number of ducks in the lake because they ate the fish spawn. Their number is at present restricted to thirty.

David J. Lewis, former member of Congress from Maryland, who has recently been appointed to the National Railway Mediation Board, will speak in the Social Room of the School this evening under the auspices of the Maryland Democrats of the 21st District. Mr. Lewis' topic will be "War or Peace in the International Community?" Mr. Tom Connor, State Chairman of the Maryland Democrats, will also be on the speaker's stand to outline briefly the political situation in the state, and the work of the Maryland Democrats.

Everyone is invited to this first special meeting of the club. Plans are being made to have monthly meetings addressed by well-known individuals from Washington and Maryland on subjects related to problems of the New Deal Administration.

Players Present "Room Service" This Tuesday and Wednesday

Greenbelt's own Community Theater manned by the Greenbelt Players is all set for the presentation of the laugh-provoking, ROOM SERVICE on the evenings of June 20 and 21. This is the fifth of the groups efforts and it is rumored to be the very best of them all. Minor changes have been completed and the cast greatly improved by the addition of "Bing" Miller and Bert G. Dekma, Jr. The latter is a newcomer to the group but Miller is an established troupier.

Sunday afternoon has been set aside for the dress rehearsal and will mark the end of two weeks of the hardest kind of work by practically every member of the Players. They have worked extra hard to make ROOM SERVICE a success because it will be their last show until the opening of the fall season some time in September or October.

Two more officers were appointed to the Executive Committee to fill vacancies created by expiration of the terms of office. They are, Lyman Woodman, Publicity and Margaret Miller, Program Chairman. The staff is now complete and assembled last Thursday to plan the program for the coming year. Their most important step will be the immediate launching of a membership drive for more thespian enthusiasts. Anyone is eligible and welcome to participate in the new and greater Greenbelt Players.

C. O. C. CALLS ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING FOR JUNE 19

Co-op Subscribers to Vote on Proposed
By-Laws and Financial Agreement

Mayor Maurer, Mr. Wilde, Dr. Bone to Speak

Last fall, at a meeting attended by over 400 Greenbelters, it was agreed without a dissenting vote that the people of Greenbelt should take over our local stores and operate them as a cooperative, the change to be effected when citizens representing half the residences of Greenbelt had subscribed and paid for a share in the proposed cooperative.

An equally large gathering is expected at the Organizational Meeting called for 8 P.M., Monday evening, June 19, at the school auditorium, at which meeting the subscribers, now representing half the homes in Greenbelt, will indicate their approval or disapproval of proposed by-laws and financial agreement, drawn up by the C.O.C. and modified in accordance with action of subscribers following open hearings held Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

All citizens of Greenbelt are welcome to attend and participate in the discussion at this meeting, but only subscribers will be entitled to vote.

Although action taken at this meeting in a formal sense cannot be final, as final approval of by-laws and agreement must await formation of the cooperative, in a practical sense it probably will be final, except for technical changes, since the present subscribers will undoubtedly be a majority of the shareholders at the time when the cooperative is formed.

On Saturday, June 10, the Cooperative Organizing Committee sent copies of proposed by-laws, and financial agreement, and modified at C.O.C. meetings in accordance with legal and accounting advice, to every home in Greenbelt.

According to the C.O.C. Chairman: "A very determined effort was made to draw up the by-laws in such a way as to insure a thoroughly sound business organization, for the sounder the structure of the business, the more benefit it can provide to the people of Greenbelt."

Concerning the proposed financial agreement, a note from the C.O.C. stated: "In considering this proposed agreement, the subscriber should realize that its basic purpose is to provide proper protection for Consumer Distribution Corporation's investment in our proposed cooperative. The Cooperative Organizing Committee, through its Finance Subcommittee, has tried to draw up this agreement in such a way as to secure this protection without unduly limiting the rights of the members of the cooperative."

Mr. Herbert E. Evans, Vice-President of Consumer Distribution Corporation, commented on the proposed financial agreement as follows: "Officers of C.D.C. find themselves in agreement in general with preliminary draft of financial agreement as basis for discussion. It will just need clarification in one or two paragraphs and improvement in wording. We are interested in any arrangement that will work toward the real success of the cooperative."

At the meeting there will be talks by Mayor Henry Maurer, Mr. Fred Wilde, President of the Greenbelt Credit Union, and Dr. Hugh Bone, President of the Greenbelt Health Association. The meeting will be conducted by Mr. Francis Lastner, President of the Greenbelt Citizens Association.

The C.O.C. urges a large attendance, so that action taken will be representative of all the people of Greenbelt. Definite action at this meeting will mark a major step in the formation of our cooperative, which the C.O.C. hopes will be in full swing by the first of October of this year.

REPORTS ON LABELS AND COOPERATIVE SALES MADE TO COMMITTEE OF 40

Posters and pictures of the new grade labeling for Co-op brands of canned goods aided Mrs. Bertha Maryn in her able explanation of how the new labeling helps the consumer in wiser buying. Mrs. Maryn reported to the Committee of 40 in its regular meeting on June 7 in the Meeting Room. The visual aids had been prepared by the Testing Kitchen at the Eastern Cooperative Wholesale in New York and sent down to Greenbelt for the meeting. The informative grade label which is now appearing on many of the Co-op goods is something that many housewives have been wanting.

Mr. Yhnell gave a fine report of the convention of the Eastern Cooperative Wholesale in New York City on May 30. His report stressed the increase in the sales and brands handled by the wholesale since its beginning ten years ago. The success of the business is reflected in the 1% rebate that was made to the retail outlets which buy through E.C.W. The future plans of the Wholesale will include training of managers and personnel and building of a less costly financial structure. According to his account, Mr. Yhnell saw much of New York City in the short time he was there.

"A wee tiny small little cat one day
Went out to the barn for a nap in the hay.
But he saw such a huge large great big mouse
He felt 'twould be safer to sleep in the house."

Poor little kitty, I know just how he felt. Because when I went out to my garden yesterday (after three days' slacking) I saw so many and such healthy looking bugs on every single thing, I felt that my life might be threatened any minute and it was only by remembering that my great-grandfathers fought in the War Between the States that I stuck my ground. "Frighten me, will they? Eat up my potatoes, will they? Make my garden look like the ravages of time, will they? We'll see!" So off home I dashed, to interview all the really good gardeners I knew about everything they knew about bugs. I am pleased to offer you--boiled down--the sum total.

Biting or chewing insects such as beetles, caterpillars, grasshoppers, and the like, can best be controlled by the application of poisons to the plants upon which they feed. Arsenate of lead, Paris green and Pyrethrum are a few of the poisons commonly used.

Sucking insects such as aphids, weevils, leaf hoppers, etc., insert their beaks into the leaves, stems or fruits and suck the plant juices. Hence "stomach" poisons applied to the surface of the plant will not kill them. They must be killed by the use of contact poisons such as tobacco solutions, sulphur dust, soap and oil preparations.

Rust and mildew are generally controlled by sprays or dust of mildly poisonous preparations. Bordeaux mixture, lime sulphur and sulphur are most commonly used for this purpose. Wet or cloudy weather (this ought not to worry us much!) usually favors diseases of this type so that they are exceptionally difficult to control while such conditions prevail. On the other hand, bright, warm and sunny weather (aren't we lucky?) is more effective in preventing their development than any artificial preparations that might be used. Some roses, especially the Dorothy Perkins rambler and others of that type, seem to be susceptible to mildew. Bordeaux mixture is excellent for control of this villain.

I am going to list below sprays which have been found good for different types of vegetables in the hope that it may prove useful to you folks who deserve medals for working beneath cloudless skies on ground which is slowly turning to dust. Good luck!

And a good wide strip of adhesive put on first will keep the sprayer strap from biting so deeply into your shoulder blade. Also, a pair of heavy cotton gloves will keep down the blisters. But even if you forget the adhesive and take the gloves off because they're too bulky, don't lag behind. Remember I told you a long time ago that gardeners couldn't afford to be sissies.

Tegualda Ponce, M.D. poses graciously for the COOPERATOR cameraman.

Greenbelt entertained a charming visitor from Chile this week, when Dr. Tegualda Ponce arrived here via Lincoln, Nebraska. She was the guest of Dr. Joe W. Still.

Dr. Ponce, who received her degree at the University of Santiago, Chile, has been an exchange fellowship student at the University of Nebraska since August, when she first came to this country. It was in Lincoln, Nebraska that she met the Still family. She is a particularly intimate friend of Dr. Still's sister Claire, with whom she planned to visit Greenbelt. Dr. Ponce expressed considerable interest in Greenbelt and its health problems.

While here she took the opportunity to visit an old friend of the family, Senor Alberto Cabero, the Chilean Ambassador with whom she lunched last Sunday in Washington, at the Embassy. She knew Senor Cabero when he was Minister of the Interior in her native country.

She has specialized in obstetrics and gynecology, and is interested in the social aspects of medicine. When she returns to Chile there will be two jobs waiting for her to hold down; one as instructor at the School of Nurses of San Augustine Hospital in Valparaiso and the other on the Women's Bureau of the Chilean Social Security Administration. Dr. Ponce left Greenbelt Tuesday and it is hoped by the many friends she made during her short stay that she will revisit us before her final departure from the States.

Meditations

Greenbelt Community Church

Have you ever read or heard the little Mary Virginia Harriss' poem, "If I had my Way"?

"I would always be swinging on gates,
I'd swing and swing all day,
And I would never go to school,
If I had my way.

"I'd be playing all the night,
I'd be playing all the day,
I'd never stop to work,
If I had my way.

"Mother said I couldn't eat or sleep
But I just say Ho! Hey!
I would not have to eat or sleep,
If I had my way.

We are all familiar with the eternal desire of childhood for complete uncontrol. Parents have their hardest struggles at this point, to control the appetites for food, play, excitement, candy and cookies, and staying-up.

Many people in this world have gradually built up self-control, otherwise known as the individual's ability to adjust to the human and natural environment. A person learns through the years that he or she cannot eat all that is passionately wanted, nor go to all the parties, nor indulge the appetites in any manner, if he or she is to survive.

There are many people, also, who have not developed a control of self. Among these are old folk who succumb to a soft life and thereby become a nuisance to those with whom they live or meet. But you know of old folk who refuse to bend the knee to indulgences. These are the individuals who grow old beautifully. And then there are the wealthy who can have pretty much anything they want. And furthermore, all these things to the other grown-up infants of their kind.

We need not put off our deprecation of this self-indulgent infantilism on old folk or wealthy people. Many of us are guilty of the same childish trait. The spirit of Jesus speaks to us again in the words of H. A. Overstreet: "Whether we like it or not it is fairly clear that self-indulgence is a form of return to the infantile. The really mature adult resolutely faces the life-necessities. These may be hard and may require control; but he is athletic enough of mind to meet them. In so doing, he develops a certain achievement-fiber."

Health In The News

It is curious to note what some of the Washington papers call "news". A scant few weeks ago this section of Maryland was basking in an epidemic of measles which had spread into the great majority of households. Greenbelt, on the other hand, recorded but six cases.

Bigoted people that we Greenbelters are, we presumed that the reason might have been the immunization injections given here; we even thought this might be "news". It develops that we were in error. It wasn't "news" after all.

Now however, they have found something in Greenbelt worth printing. There is an epidemic, no less, to engage the devious talents of their reportorial staff. For it appears that Greenbelt has acquired an epidemic of whooping cough. Our journalistic colleagues on the Washington sheet in question found no necessity for investigating the incidence of whooping cough in our neighboring communities. Greenbelt had some, and that made it, a priori, an epidemic and consequently "news".

The fact of the matter is that whooping cough having broken out here as it did elsewhere, because it is the nature of the "critter" to break out at various times in various places was immediately brought to the attention of the proper local authorities and taken in hand.

It is true that during the first few days the cough was given more opportunity to spread than need have been, but this was due to the negligence of a very few individuals concerned and corrected almost immediately by notice from the Greenbelt Department of Public Safety.

The town has by now been thoroughly informed as to what the duties of each family are in checking the spread of whooping cough. Its spread has been checked, and definitely. For whatever good it may do, we here repeat the essential facts of the notice:

Each family where whooping cough is suspected must immediately report to a doctor. Where it has been established that the disease is in the home, the head of the family is responsible for reporting the news to the Administration Office and procuring from them tags which are to be posted on the doors. The afflicted child must be kept in its house or on the grounds out of contact with other children.

It may be of some value to mention in passing a few of the peculiarities of the disease. Whooping cough is spread through the air by coughing; even in many cases where there is apparently no contact between the sufferer and a well person it may be transmitted. In its earliest and most communicable stage it is very difficult to diagnose. When the infection has become more advanced, there is no mistaking the diagnosis, but considerable transmission may have taken place before this period. Mortality among newborn infants is very high, in the neighborhood of 25%. Among infants in their second year the mortality rate is 10% and the general average among all children is 1 to 2%. (Above information from "System of Pediatrics", by Brenne-mann).

The potential danger of whooping cough should be evident from this information, so evident that our town authorities be spared the painful duty of penalizing offenders. Whooping cough isn't just another "kid disease" which all children must get. If we obey the law we can prevent our children from getting it or spreading it.

COMPLETES REPORT

To the Editors:

It is to be regretted that the report of the annual meeting of the Eastern Cooperative Wholesale in the COOPERATOR was incomplete. As was indicated, the delegates did discuss the need for long range financing through the increase of capital stock subscribed by member stores, but they also discussed the question of milk distribution in New York City.

ECW is now distributing milk to ten New York Cooperatives which, through a committee of themselves, are virtually managing this part of ECW's business. Out of town delegates felt that this was an unusual situation, and that the economic reputation of the Dairyman's League as a source of milk was questionable. A motion was passed to appoint a committee to investigate milk distribution as it affects the entire district of ten states served by ECW. The result of this committee's work might be of material value to the Greenbelt store and is therefore of importance to your readers.

It is also of interest to note that the Maryland district is now represented on the board of directors of the wholesale by William Blaisdell of the Rochdale Store, Washington, D. C.

Jane M. Holmes.

SORRY

It has been reported that Mrs. Roosevelt told the press that if King George and Queen Elizabeth had a little more time to spend in Washington, she would have taken them to see Beltsville and Greenbelt. We're sorry too.

Law Will Be Enforced Says Wallace Mabee

"The health laws of the State of Maryland will be enforced, rigidly and immediately" said Wallace F. Mabee, Director of Public Safety in an interview with the COOPERATOR.

Referring to the whooping cough cases which are making the rounds of the neighboring Maryland communities, he indicated that Greenbelt's outstanding health record would be maintained by energetic action.

"Greenbelt wants no epidemics", he stated, "and we can prevent one now, as we have in the past." Specific reference was made to the recent cases of measles and the fact that when hundreds of children in Prince Georges County were measles victims there were only six cases in Greenbelt. At that time, preventive inoculation checked the disease here at its very start, it was pointed out.

In handling whooping cough, the essential step of isolating the victims from the other children has already been put into effect here in all reported cases.

When whooping cough occurs, Chief Mabee pointed out, it is the responsibility of the head of the family to report it immediately, to get quarantine tags from the office and post them on the doors, and to isolate the child affected from all contact with other children.

Mr. Mabee and Public Health Officer Berenberg have already issued a communication to all Greenbelt homes containing the necessary information. Failure to comply with this Maryland health law on quarantine carries a $100 fine penalty.

MOTHERS' PICNIC SATURDAY

The Mothers Club and the Pre-School Mothers Club will end their season's activities with a joint picnic at the lake, which begins at 2:00 P.M. this Saturday, June 17.

Those mothers planning to cook their supper outdoors will find plenty of wood available - others will prepare their lunch beforehand.

All members of both clubs and their families are cordially invited.

Races, games and other attractions will be prepared to entertain the children. These will begin at 2:00 o'clock and supper is planned for about 4:30 P.M.

As this will be a splendid opportunity for the two clubs to become better acquainted, we are looking forward to a large attendance.

Having been warned by the Health Nurse regarding whooping cough, it is hoped that mothers will cooperate by keeping all children with coughs or colds at home.

TRAINING COURSE ON CONSUMER PROBLEMS OFFERED

To Greenbelt women interested in leading discussion groups on consumer problems the Better Buyers are offering a course of six lessons. The sessions will be once a week for one hour each, and will be free. Registrations should be made with Mrs. Bertha Maryn.

At the June 8 leaders' meeting of the Better Buyers Mr. Wallace F. Mabey discussed plans for the coming Town Fair, and Mrs. Comly B. Richie reviewed the book "The Lord Helps Those". The book tells the story of the Nova Scotia cooperatives.

A committee to study the current hearings on the milk situation in Washington was appointed.

"CONSUMER TIME ON THE AIR"

Timely tips for consumers go out over the air waves from Washington every Tuesday afternoon at 12:45 Eastern Standard Time, under the joint auspices of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Consumers' Counsel Division of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Broadcast over the Red Network of the National Broadcasting Company, the program brings useful helps on economical spending to millions of homes throughout the country.

Buying advice on goods and services and news of developments on the consumer front are headlined on the program. In addition the radio reporters talk about food supplies and prices, diet standards, and developments in scientific laboratories throughout the country where research is going forward on consumer problems.

Tune in on this up-to-the-minute program for help in solving your budget problems. Check your local station for the time of the next broadcast of "Consumer Time on the Air."

TO SAFEGUARD BABIES AGAINST SUMMER ILLNESSES

As the thermometer shows signs of climbing higher and higher some of the ways by which babies may be kept well and comfortable during the hot weather and may be safeguarded against "summer complaint" and other illnesses are outlined below by Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the Maryland State Department of Health.

"The best way to keep your baby well," Dr. Knox said in his message to mothers, "is to take your well baby to your doctor regularly for advice and supervision, and to follow the doctor's instructions carefully and very faithfully. If your baby develops any digestive trouble, call your doctor, at once. He'll tell you what to do.

"Summer complaint, or cholera infantum, as it is sometimes called, and other digestive diseases that are so dangerous for babies are germ diseases. The germs that cause the disease get into the baby's food or in the water given the baby to drink. Babies who are nursed by their mothers and who are given cooled, boiled water to drink, are protected from these sources of danger. Care should be taken not to wean a baby in hot weather except under a doctor's orders.

"If mother's milk is not available, the best substitute for it is fresh cow's milk or unsweetened evaporated milk mixed with an equal quantity of water. If sugar or additional water is needed, it should be mixed with the milk according to your doctor's directions. All milk or milk mixtures given to children up to two years of age should be boiled. The feedings should be kept in individual bottles and kept on ice until used. Each feeding should be warmed as needed.

"Always wash the hands thoroughly before preparing the baby's food, and before handling the baby's bottle. All dishes, pots, pans, bottles and nipples should be sterilized by boiling.

"Throw out any milk left in the bottle after feeding. Don't leave the bottle in the baby's crib or carriage. It will only attract dirt and flies. Rinse out the bottle; put the nipple aside, and see that both are sterilized by boiling before using again.

"Be very careful to protect the baby and the baby's food against flies. Flies are great sources of danger. They are often carriers of the disease germs that cause some of the most serious illnesses babies have. Keep a supply of clean mosquito netting on hand to throw over the baby's crib or carriage while the baby sleeps.

"Some of the diarrheal diseases that grown-ups have are catching. Keep the baby away from people--both children and grown-ups--who are suffering from such diseases.

"If your baby develops diarrheal trouble, don't let it run on. Call your doctor."

Local Girl Finds Queen Elizabeth "Lovely"

GREENBELT'S GIRL SCOUTS WERE DETERMINED BUT OLD SOL TOOK HIS TOLL

The day King George and Queen Elizabeth arrived in Washington was an eventful day to many Americans, and not the least of these were four young Greenbelters. The day was sultry and the sun glared out of a cloudless sky when four Greenbelt Girl Scouts, Lorraine Mullen, June Donahue, Jean O'Leary and Jacqueline Freeman set out for Washington to be reviewed by Her Britannic Majesty. Two of them, June and Jacqueline had been given hypodermic injections of salt solution as a precaution against the weather. But precautions or no precautions, the scorching sun took its toll. All four of the determined young ladies missed out on the Queen's review when they fainted from the heat. Lorraine Mullen was rushed to the Girl Scout Home on 18th Street, June, Jean and Jacqueline were taken to Emergency Hospital, where they recuperated from 4:30 to 9:30 before going home. June Donahue had the worst luck of all; she injured her arm when she fell, and is compelled to wear it in a sling. Better luck next time to Greenbelt's plucky young ladies.

MEET ROLLED IN CABBAGE (Jewish)

Mrs. Isaac Schwartz,
5-B Eastway

- | | |
|----------------------------|---------------------------|
| 2 lb. head cabbage | 2 cups canned tomatoes |
| 1 lb. hamburger | 3 tablespoons lemon juice |
| 1 egg | 6 tablespoons sugar |
| 8 tablespoons bread crumbs | 1 tablespoon fat |
| | 2 small onions |

salt and pepper to taste

Take cabbage apart leaf by leaf and wash. Drop the leaves in boiling water and boil just long enough for fork to go through, (about 2 minutes). Drain. Mix thoroughly hamburger, bread crumbs, egg, 1 onion minced and salt and pepper. With fingers take about 1 tablespoon of the meat mixture and place in center of cabbage leaf. Roll the cabbage from bottom of the leaf up. Tuck the sides in. Roll remainder of cabbage leaves around meat. If any meat remains roll into small balls.

Make a sauce by frying a minced onion in fat. Add tomatoes, lemon juice and sugar. Drop the cabbage rolls in the sauce and simmer slowly for 1½ hours to 2 hours. More sugar may be added if desired. For a more tart sauce add more lemon juice.

Twelve year old Dorothy Wood, 58-J Crescent Road, will probably remember June 9, 1939 as one of the most outstanding days in her life. On this memorable day she was an invited guest with her father to the garden party held at the British Embassy in honor of King George and Queen Elizabeth.

As she approached the garden she was much impressed by the ornamental doorman. He wore bright red tight pants and a blue coat which was covered with decorative medals. Our young guest was unusually observant and as she glanced about the garden spied many policemen sitting in the trees and on the garden wall. She learned later that they were sitting in this precarious position to better guard the royal couple.

Dorothy though only 12 years old has the innate womanly trait of being clothes-conscious. She said the Queen looked very lovely in her short white dress and wide brimmed hat and her gardenia corsage. She carried a beautiful white satin parasol (I wonder if this will start a new fad). Said Dorothy, "Queen Elizabeth certainly looks like a queen. She walks very gracefully and is lovely."

Dorothy said the King reviewed the war veterans and stopped to speak to those who wore an unusual medal. The English band which came with the King and Queen played the American and British anthems and some of the old war songs which were very impressive.

Dorothy says she was never more thrilled in her life and will never forget this day of days.

HOW TO CLEAN ALUMINUM POTS AND PANS

Aluminum pots and pans are immune to ordinary rust and chipping, but they stain easily. For housewives who like to keep their aluminum utensils bright the CONSUMERS' GUIDE, publication of the Consumers' Counsel Division of the AAA, gives these tips:

"Compounds in certain vegetables, boiling water, and soap result in stains on the surface of the metal," declares the Guide.

"Scouring with a fine abrasive such as steel wool and rinsing well will remove some of the stains they leave and will also eliminate all traces of salt on the surface of the metal. (Salt left on the surface will result in 'pitting' of the metal).

"If scouring doesn't remove the stains, try this: Boil some strongly acid food such as rhubarb, apples, or tomatoes, or water and vinegar in the stained utensil. Do not use soap containing strong alkalis.

"To avoid roughening of the surface--or 'pitting'--of aluminum, keep the utensil clean and don't allow food to remain in it for any length of time."

The Four-Minute Mile, which has been the dream of man ever since his flight over cinder tracks has been accurately recorded by stop-watchers, may come true this Saturday afternoon at Palmer Stadium in Princeton, N. J. Given favorable weather conditions and pressed sufficiently by Glenn Cunningham, Sydney Wooderson, England's outstanding miler, may rip off 5,280 feet while the second hand is moving only 240 times. On the other hand Wooderson may do the pressing and Cunningham the record-breaking.

In any event, this long delayed meeting between the world's two outstanding milers promises to provide material for a new chapter of track history. Wooderson holds the world's outdoor record for the mile, with a mark of 4:06.4. Cunningham has beaten this mark indoors on Dartmouth's famous track, but his time of 4:04 has never been accepted as an official record. There's a good chance to run the mile this Saturday in that time, or 4 minutes.

Wooderson couldn't make the trip when invited in 1937, and last year he had to decline because of examinations. However, this year he found himself free at long last to match strides with the ageing shanks of Glenn Cunningham, who now is 30 years old. Wooderson ran the record mile in 1937 when he was 22. At 24, he is now at his peak of form, having set a new world's record of 2:59.5 for the three-quarter mile only a week ago. He also holds the world's half mile record.

Wooderson is a meek little fellow of humble parentage. His father sells vegetables in London's famed Convent Garden. His brother Stanly and his trainer, Albert Hill, came here with him. They arrived here last Monday, and after lunch at the Princeton Club, went to Palmer Stadium to start preparing for Saturday's supreme effort. One thing that may act against Wooderson is the heat, which he is not used to. If it happens to be real hot Saturday, he may be too wilted to do his best. But, hot or cold, it promises to be a day to remember in track and field annals.

BOYS CLUB DEFEAT GLENDALE 9 TO 8

The Greenbelt Boys Club evened the series with their county rivals last Sunday by scoring twice in the last inning to win out 9 to 8. After Andrus singled, Provost and Dunbar doubled to end the game.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE RESUME

The first series of the Greenbelt Athletic Club Softball League is drawing to a close, leaving only one more week of competition. With the results of last week in, it is evident that the teams in the runner-up positions are playing inspired softball, preparing themselves for the second series, in which they hope to remove the Cliff Dwellers, who have all but clinched first place in the first series.

On Monday, June 5 at 6 P.M., the Cubs and the Cave Dwellers hooked up in a very well played game, the Cubs winning out by the score of 7 to 3. The feature of the game was a home run by Wurl of the victors. In the second game the Cliff Dwellers won their seventh straight when they swamped the Dukes 24 to 1, blasting out 21 hits. The Dukes got only six hits, one of them being Brenem's home-run in the last inning to prevent a shut-out.

On Tuesday the Colts beat the Blue Devils 7 to 1, when Alder, pitching for the Colts, allowed only 3 hits. But that will be the last game he pitches. Maughan of the winners, was leading hitter with a home-run and 2 singles in 4 times at bat. At 8 o'clock the Buccaneers took the field against the Cee Men, and went down to defeat 11 to 5. The Cee Men won the game in the third inning when they scored 5 times, after putting across 4 in the first. The Bucs broke out with a 5 run rally in the 4th, but that was the extent of their scoring.

Wednesday, the Browns limited Snob Hill to 5 hits, and defeated them 9 to 3. Jones of victors, was leading hitter with 3 singles in 3 times up. In the night game the Athletics registered their first win when they defeated the Cave Dwellers 12 to 7. A's got 13 hits, and scored in every inning but the first. Therill, of A's, led the attack with a home run, double, and 2 singles in four trips to the plate.

On Thursday the Cee Men got 9 runs in the first and 8 in the third inning to smother the Colts by a 26 to 4 score. Keagle of the Cee Men got 3 out of 5. The second game between the Cliff Dwellers and the Blue Devils was postponed on account of rain. This was the first postponed game of the season.

On Friday, the Cave Dwellers turned on the heat, and defeated the Buccaneers 18 to 15, for their first win in seven games. Cave Dwellers scored in every inning and Bucs got 11 in the 4th. Wiram, of victors, connected for a home run and 2 singles in 4 times up, while Ourand, of Bucs, got 3 for 5. In the last game of the week the Browns defeated the Cubs 17 to 11, but the game was protected. Both pitchers were hit hard, the Browns getting 16 hits and the cubs 10 hits. Holochwest led the attack for the victors with a double and 2 singles in 4 times at bat.

The Greenbelt A.C. Representative Softball team again turned back the opposition last Sunday morning, when they defeated the Navy Yard Stars at the Athletic Field 5 to 1. This was their third victory in three starts, and again Curt Barker's tossing tells the story. He limited the Stars to 3 hits and set 12 men down via the strike-out route. The Stars avoided a shut-out by pushing a run across in the fifth when Crew walked, advanced on Smuggert's hit and scored while Gamble grounded out. The only extra base hit of the game was a double by Todd in the sixth, when Greenbelt scored 3 times.

There will be a meeting of the Greenbelt Athletic Club next Thursday, June 22, 1939, in the Social Room of the School at 8 P. M. President Messner urges all members to attend as there will be important business to discuss. As the first series of the Softball League will end on June 21 st, the second series schedule will be drawn up at this meeting.

Some two hundred of the male population of Greenbelt are now at liberty to hold their heads high again and consider that maybe they are ball players after all. Their old nemesis, Curt Barker, of the ever victorious Cliff Dwellers, was tried against the high calibered Carr Bros-Boswell Softball Team at Seat Pleasant last Friday evening, and found not wanting. For the three and one half innings he toiled on the mound, he allowed not a single run, and only one dinky hit through the infield. The Greenbelt League has been facing a big leaguer for two seasons now, and never knew it.

Outstanding at bat and afield were, Barker (there's that man again) with a home run of at least 250 feet, limited to a double because of ground rules, and Ben Goldfadden's triple that proved to be the opening gun of the fireworks. Henderson, Krebs and Taylor contributed fielding brilliance and all-around excellent play, but George Bauer provided the thrill of the evening. George, the slugger and, "unstrike-outable" got two for two again, but the second one was, of all things, a trickling bunt down the first base line. If you ever feel that you would like to get away from it all and need a change from the hum-drum of life in general, see Bauer running out a bunt. He's terrific.

DUCKPIN LEAGUE ACQUIRES CORNER IN BOWLING ALLEYS

The Board of Directors of the Greenbelt Duckpin Bowling League held a meeting last Wednesday to lay plans for the coming season. In order to satisfy the desires of the majority of last season's bowlers, and also of a great number of prospective bowlers, it was decided to engage all the alleys of College Park Bowling establishment commencing on or about September 12, 1939 at 7:30 P.M. Bowling will take place on Tuesday nights. If the league exceeds eight teams, and all indications seem to point that way, it will be necessary to bowl in 2 shifts, one at 7:30 and one at 9:30. This will also give some of the college schoolboys a chance to participate.

The bowling fee will be 75 cents a man, 45 cents of which will go to the alley owners, 25 cents to prize money and expenses, and 5¢ for activities at the end of the season. Any changes as to handicap, individual as well as team, will be discussed at a meeting preceding the opening of the bowling season. Be sure to attend this meeting, get in touch with your block captain and tell him of the changes you think should be made.

Sunday School Picnic Success

Not even the blistering heat of Saturday, June 10 was able to dampen the spirit with which the Community Church and its athletic young pastor entered into the many enjoyable phases of its annual Church School Picnic.

The first order of business was a softball game between the boys and those who still pride themselves on their athletic ability in spite of rheumatic twinges. After a hot game in more than one sense, the activities turned to games and races in the flats below the dam at the lake, winding up with generous helpings of ice cream and lemonade for all hands and prizes for the winners.

A general picnic supper closed the strenuous activities of the day and boating on the lake was the order until dusk, when everyone adjourned.

Among those present were town manager Roy S. Braden and party, Mr. L. W. Worley, superintendent and H. G. Merryman, assistant superintendent of the school, Mrs. Lillian Mitchell and the teachers and officers of the school.

A list of the prize winners in the various activities follows:

In the four and five year old classes, the peanut race, Gayle McAchren; 25-yard race, boys, Buddie Proctor, girls, Lynn Worley; 1st grade, 25-yard race Leonard Delbert; 2nd grade, peanut and spoon, Harold Slusser; 3rd grade, baseball throw, Summer Cragins; intermediate, potato race, Zella Bryan; 50 yard race, Emmett Nanna; 4th grade, boys and girls, shoe scramble, Clayton McCarl and Marian Downing; 5th grade, 50 yard race, Mahlon Eshbaugh; baseball throw, Shirley Mitchell; 6th grade, baseball throw, Ora Donahoe, shoe scramble, Mahlon Eshbaugh; seniors, women, waitress race, Mrs. McAchren; Call of the wild women, Mrs. Neblett; men, 50-yard race, Mr. Merryman; shoe scramble, Mr. Eshbaugh; men and women, wheelbarrow, Stanley and Mary Provost; balloon race, Mr. Bates; junior boys, 50-yard race, Mahlon Eshbaugh.

AND HOW

Public Health Department Set Up Here

With the largest audience within the memory of living man the Town Council entered a feverish and heated session on Monday evening June 12. Both the Town Council and the Administrative Officers were present in full force.

Establishment of a Department of Public Health for Greenbelt occupied most of the meeting. Duties of the staff were set forth and provision was made for maintaining records in a central office where they will be open for examination. More specifically the ordinance provides for inspection by the Health Officer of food, milk, water supply, sewage and garbage. The Health Officer is also authorized to eradicate health nuisances, supervise maternal and child welfare, vaccinations, school health hazards, and quarantine.

The first reading received unanimous support after some objections by Councilman Allen Morrison. A specific quarantine ordinance was also given first reading. Written in conformance with Maryland state health laws, the ordinance authorizes quarantine for communicable diseases, makes notification compulsory, and establishes provisions for enforcement.

The ordinance banning fireworks inside the town limits except by permits issued to organizations for community displays was passed 3 to 2 after an amendment allowing use of certain types of fireworks was lost for want of a second. Arrangements will probably be made for a vote by the entire community at the fall elections on the use of fireworks.

The ordinance banning shorts was tabled after a heated discussion. Councilman Sherrod East and Mrs. Ruth Taylor suggested that the restrictions be limited to the wearing of bathing apparel by persons over 12 years of age in the shopping area, but discussion became so involved that the matter was dropped and the management was instructed to send out a letter asking residents to use more discretion in wearing scanty attire in public.

After suggestion had been made by citizens present that lake fauna be improved for small fish, Mr. Braden asked that the ordinance be withdrawn for further study.

Peter J. Carroll presented a resolution for the consideration of the Council requesting that body to authorize the publication of photographs of the community in the COOPERATOR and the advertising of proposed community ordinances in the same organ.

Manager Braden brought up a proposed measure to regulate fishing in the Greenbelt Lake.
